They Will Not Collect In Schools

There are already too many demands made on children for donations, suggested trustees of Saanich School District on Monday evening. Under discussion was a request from the Association for Retarded Children that an expression of opinion be offered regarding the feasibility of making a plea for donations from children on the grounds that they may, themselves, in the future be parents of retarded children.

Children are already contributing to the Red Cross and to Korean orphans, it was stated and trustees did not welcome the principle of the suggestion.

SUMMARY

WINTER WORK IS WHARF

Establishment of the new Sidney wharf to serve the international ferry between Sidney and Anacortes owes its being to the federal government's winter work employment scheme. An announcement by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce winter employment committee indicates that the Sidney wharf was part of the chamber's project in company with the national employment service.

The wharf, which was originally planned for completion last year, was commenced early this year with a target for completion set in summer. Thousands of truck loads of gravel and fill have been dumped on the adjacent property at First and Second Sts. in Sidney, while Pacific Pile Driving Co., Ltd., contractors have made considerable progress with the wharf itself.

ANNUAL TULIP TOUR WELL ATTENDED

More than 100 interested persons took part in the second annual tour of peninsula tulip farms sponsored by the Vancouver Island Bulb Growers' Association on Saturday, April 25.

Commencing at 10.30 a.m. at the Old West Road farm of Frank Doyle, the tour included the Dominion Experimental Station, where lunch was held in the Farmers' Pavilion, and the farms of J. P. Rickard and G. M. Owen.

Speaker at the luncheon was Dr. William Newton, who urged the bulb growers to expand to new fields in the garden trade, and to reach out to the development of new varieties, not leaving this phase of the industry entirely to the growers of Holland.

Among those taking part in the tour were several representatives of the federal and provincial agriculture departments, including Neville Meyers, head of the bulb inspection service at Vancouver, and Saanich M.L.A. John Tisdale.

Green Light For Berry Pickers In Saanich School District

Students of schools in Saanich District will be permitted to pick berries during the busy season. Trustees decided on Monday evening that the practice had not proved harmful in past years and that the berry growing industry was one of the most important factors in the economy of the district.

Deep Cove Raises $1,330 For Red Cross

Red Cross drive in Deep Cove this year raised $1,330. Miss Helen Horth, convener, announced this week.

The total for the district, which lies north of Mills Road, equals that raised in the canvass of the area comprising Sidney, Central Saanich, and the rest of North Saanich.

The decision was made following a report from Superintendent B. Thorsteinsson that Greater Victoria School District has prohibited attendance of students at berry farms under the auspices of the schools. Students have been permitted to take part in this activity in former years. Usually drawn from grades 7 and 8, the pickers are approved by their teachers before being allowed to take part.

Favorable Decision Expected

Application by Central Saanich council for the turning over of the Elk Lake water system to the municipality by the Department of Transport is apparently receiving favorable consideration in Ottawa.

Municipal Clerk D. S. Wood read a letter from Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, V.C., at Tuesday night's council meeting, in which the minister stated that he had spoken to his colleague, the minister of transport, and to other officials of the department, and was assured by them that the matter was being given serious thought. Mr. Pearkes was confident that the decision would be in favor of the municipality's request.

SIDNEY PROBLEMS

FLOODING AND ZONING ARE CONSIDERED BY MEETING

Flooding of residential properties on Third and Fourth Sts., the extent to which the village is bound by the master plan of the Capital Region Planning Board, and the effect of new zoning regulations on established businesses were the main topics of discussion at a public meeting at Hotel Sidney on Friday, April 24. Called by the Sidney Ratepayers' Association, the meeting was attended by members of the village council.

They Will Pay Cost Of Workshop

Saanich School District will meet the cost of accommodation for teachers' workshop. On Monday evening trustees heard a report from Superintendent B. Thorsteinsson of the value of such workshops.

The trustees echoed the view expressed by Chairman J. D. Helps when he commented, "If teachers will donate the time to these workshops then the board should be prepared to give them a place to do it."

The board plans to establish the practice as a policy for future discussions.

Four Hours In North Saanich Are Included In Festival

First tourists of the season are expected to swarm to a selection of gardens on Saanich Peninsula and in the Victoria area. They will be entertained by the Victoria Horticultural Society, sponsors of the spring garden festival.

Seven Saanich homes and four in North Saanich are included on the itinerary. From May 7 to May 9, inclusive, the gardens will be open to the public.

They include two of the famous showplaces of North Saanich, The Latch, at Tsehum Harbor, property of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Blair and Spencerwood, at Ardmore, the home

Government To Co-operate In Finding Water Supply

—Assurance Given To Delegates

Government of British Columbia is fully aware of the problems faced by many residents of North Saanich in their acute shortage of domestic water and will co-operate with the householders in an effort to solve the problem.

This assurance was given a committee of Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce last week by Hon. Ray Williston, minister of lands under whose jurisdiction the Water Act is administered. The committee, headed by Gordon Hulme and including A. R. Spooner and J. S. Rivers, was introduced by Saanich M.L.A. John Tisdale, who was most co-operative.

The committee specifically asked the minister two queries:

(a) For an expression of sympathy from the government to the residents who are suffering from lack of adequate domestic water;

(b) Assurance that leadership will be given the unorganized territory of North Saanich to correct the problem in some practical way.

To question (a) Mr. Williston replied: "The government is fully aware of the problem and has sincere sympathy with those who are suffering from it." To question (b) he replied: "This government will provide the leadership requested and will make engineers available, step-by-step, to ascertain how it may best be corrected."

HIGH PRIORITY

The minister explained that North Saanich was very favorably located geographically to permit of engineering surveys to be carried out. He assured the delegation that a high priority would be given the preparation of the necessary engineering data in an effort to arrive at a final practical plan.

The delegation argued that in some sections of North Saanich a state of emergency today existed because of acute shortage of water. The minister was reluctant to agree that the present situation created an "emergency."

NEW CONCEPT

An entirely new concept of government intervention in the field of domestic water was also urged by the Chamber of Commerce delegation. It was pointed out that the provincial government had taken giant strides in providing many commodities and services to the people of B.C. such as: transportation, highways, bridges, ferries, tunnels, electricity, milk, whiskey and beer. The delegation pleaded that the provincial government should add water to the list and provide an adequate piped supply to North Saanich at public expense, leaving local districts such as Ardmore, Deep Cove and Swartz Bay to provide their own laterals and purchase the water at a fair price. The minister did not look on the proposal with great enthusiasm, saying that in many parts of B.C. a more acute problem was removal of "superfluous" water by drainage systems. He felt that a new policy whereby the provincial government would provide water to needy unorganized territories would be far-reaching and he was reluctant to discuss it in too sanguine a manner.

Mr. Williston expressed his pleasure at the visit of the Chamber delegation and asked that the formal request for engineering aid be put in writing so that it could be given a high priority.

Meanwhile Mr. Hulme's committee continues active and is planning further conferences with Mr. Tisdale and other government officials.

HEADQUARTERS

Festival headquarters will be at 906 Government St., from which point transportation will be offered. Registration for the tour of the gardens will be $1.75 per day. The fee will be 75 cents for those who provide their own transportation. The society has appealed to women attending the festival to wear flat shoes to reduce wear and tear on lawns. Tea and rest stops during each day's tour will be provided by the ladies of the Anglican churches en route.

CAN BE SOLVED

Village council is confident that a solution will be found, as soon as reports are received from provincial engineers, and the route of the road to the new wharf is decided.

Complaints were heard from long-established businesses which have become non-conforming under the new village zoning by-law, preventing their expansion. They were assured that application for a permit to allow any necessary changes would receive favorable consideration by the council.

Request from the Sidney Recreation Commission for a greatly increased grant to allow the formation of a recreation club and the hiring of an instructor, was turned down on the grounds that the village could not afford the expense.

Age Limit Dropped For Queen Contest

Rules governing the Sidney Queen contest have been relaxed, in an effort to get more entries before the closing date, Saturday, May 2.

Any girl who will have reached her 16th birthday before that day will be eligible.

So far, nine girls have entered the contest. H.M.S. Endeavour Chapter, I.O.D.E., sponsors of the event, hope to have 12 entrants when it gets under way.

Cadets Will Be On Their Own At June Annual Inspection

June will mark the close of a year of training for nearly 50 boys enlisted with Sidney Kinsmen Air Cadet Squadron, No. 676. The annual inspection of the squadron will take place at Patricia Bay Airport before a gathering of R.C.A.P. and Air Cadet League officials and dignitaries from the community.

The cadets will be on their own from the word, "Go". The squadron will display its ability on the drill square by going through a number of movements. Cadet N.C.O.'s will take the parade and will be responsible for all instructions.

The annual inspection will also investigate the progress of the cadets in other fields. During the year they have studied many aspects of aviation, including navigation, meteorology, engines and the principles of flight.

JUDGING

The squadron will be judged on the accomplishments of individual cadets in the various fields of training and in their deportment at the time of the inspection.

The squadron has operated for nearly 18 months, although its official establishment was gained nearly a year ago. Boys have paraded ... Continued on Page Twelve

Lee Is Out On Limb As Road Is Discussed

Trustees of Saanich School District Ernest Lee went out on a limb on Monday evening. Asserting that the projected course of Clark Road at Brentwood would cut through the old Brentwood school, he stated, "If that road doesn't run through the school building I'm cockeyed!" His fellow trustees are still anxiously awaiting the results of his investigations.

Discussion centred on report by P. F. Lomas of having discussed with Central Saanich council the re-routing of Clark Road at West Saanich Road, where it takes a sharp jog to curve round school property. Trustees have offered to release that part of the school grounds required to permit of the straightening of the road.

LIVED FOR MANY YEARS IN NORTH SAANICH

Requiem mass was celebrated at Our Lady of the Assumption church, West Saanich Road on Monday, April 27, for Mrs. Madeline James, who passed away at Reid Haven hospital on Thursday, April 23. The late Mrs. James was born at Westholme, 73 years ago, and lived on McTavish Road for many years.

Surviving are her husband, Tommy, at home; two sons, three daughters, 28 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Interment took place at Cole Bay cemetery, with Rev. Father William Mudge officiating.

Find Torpedo On Pender Island Beach

Practice aerial torpedo, belonging to the R.C.N., was picked up on the beach at North Pender Island, by Tom McCulloch and Bob Weinberg of Victoria, as they were on a hydrographic survey among the Gulf Islands, on April 22. It was a 7-ft. 300-lb. torpedo, filled with valuable equipment, which had been lost some three months ago by the navy.

The device was brought by the men to Dr. Lambert's cove at Solmar, towed in by the government boat "Curlew", and the R.C.M.P. and the R.C.N. were informed of the find. A navy helicopter arrived and managed to land in Fraser's field next door, and flew the torpedo to the navy base at Victoria.

Working with the government survey party were three Fulford men, Harvey Hamilton, Carl Maxwell and T. Trage.

DISPUTE IS SETTLED

Dispute between the Saanich School District and the outside still has been settled by conciliation. The employees have accepted an increase of seven per cent offered during the final meetings.

On Monday evening the offer was confirmed by the trustees of the district.

Pender Hits Target For Red Cross

The Red Cross drive on the Pender Islands wound up last week with the sum of $329.25 subscribed. No set objective is named for the islands by headquarters in Vancouver, but local Red Cross organizer, Mrs. G. A. Scott, has set her goal at $300. This year's contribution is in considerable excess of the 1958 total. Thanks for a job well done is extended both canvassers and contributors.

Leaves On Annual Trip

Once more starting out on a long trip north, John Klassen, of Beaver Point, left Salt Spring this week in his boat "Radium Franklin", and is heading for Great Bear Lake, where he is employed as chief engineer for the Northern Transportation Co., in charge of all its transportation and freight boats.

For 10 years, Mr. Klassen has been going north to take charge, and spends the spring and summer there, returning to his home at Beaver Point for the winter months.

Fall Causes Injuries

Mrs. Stella Bowerman of Hope Bay, Pender Island, was rushed to the Lady Minto hospital, Ganges, on Friday, after sustaining painful injuries in a fall, when she tripped over a nail-studded block of wood. X-ray revealed a cracked right upper arm bone, a broken nose and an injured ankle. A number of stitches were required to close a cut on her lower lip.

Mrs. Mary Allen accompanied Mrs. Bowerman to Ganges, remaining overnight with the patient, who is expected to be hospitalized for several days.

No Course If Not Listed In Curriculum Says Board

Desirable as a course in electronics might be, if it is not included in the school curriculum there should be no expense incurred in offering it, stated Reginald Sinkinson on Monday evening.

Mr. Sinkinson was speaking to trustees of Saanich School District in reference to the proposal to establish a radio room at Royal Oak high school.

P. F. Lomas has already recommended that the board approve the establishment of storage facilities for radio equipment. Mr. Sinkinson explained that the establishment of such facilities had been undertaken several years ago. He was informed that the storage space so provided had since been used for other purposes.

The matter was postponed until the trustees are in receipt of a closer estimate of the cost. Mr. Lomas estimated $200, but emphasized that this was not an accurate figure.

From Sanscha Hall - - -
To Sidney Day

A PERIODIC REPORT
By VIVIAN COWAN
"The money-man", Con Cornish, is always a most co-operative man to work with, and this week's column is no exception. Mr. Cornish not only explained, but typed out a lot of information for me.
Procedure for Sidney Day itself will follow closely along the lines of previous years in an almost fool-proof routine worked out by Mr. Cornish. A ledger will be kept in which separate accounts are opened for each of the various booths. Receipts and disbursements are distributed to the proper accounts, so a permanent record is kept.
There is a separate record book and completely detailed statement on file in the organization, for every Sidney Day, and it is strongly urged that sponsors of Sidney Day projects avail themselves of the information contained in these records as a guide to their planning.
BUDGETS
This year each committee has been asked to submit a budget showing what is required for their project. Budgets have been discussed and approved by the Sidney Day committee as a whole, and before this is in print, the budgets will have been presented for the approval of the SANSCHA finance committee.
Chief headache for any treasurer, is the non-advance or late receipt of small bills. A remedy for this, to a great extent, was discovered when the Klondyke Karnival, mimeographed sheets were given to all project heads, who filled them out and returned them with their cash, receipts for bills paid, and any unpaid bills.
Similar sheets will be provided for

PENINSULA PLAYERS
FINAL PRODUCTION

Peninsula Players will present three one-act plays on Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2, at the Sidney elementary school. This will be the players' last production of the season.
A farce, "The Boor", will be produced by the Columbine Players of Victoria. This play was their entry in the Southern Vancouver Island Drama Festival, and is directed by John Poulton, with Cliff Clarke in the leading role.
"Suspicion", a drama, was the Peninsula Players' entry in the drama festival. Ailsa Rothery is director, and in the cast are Ken Smith, Otto Plaschko, Margaret Dixon and Pat Montgomery.
Third play, "The Lovely Miracle", a fantasy, is under the direction of Nell Horth. Members of the cast are Shirley Kerr, Joan Henriksen, Marna Knutsen and Herb Drew.
Curtain time is 8.15 p.m.

FINED
George Louis Baal was fined $10 in Sidney police court Saturday morning, April 28, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign.
The day itself over, the following weeks are like a nightmare.
Tracing down credit notes for merchandise and empty bottles returned, information for the five per cent and amusement taxes, errors in wholesalers' billings, and etc. and etc. and etc.
TURMOIL
Last year, all credit is due to the SANSCHA general treasurer, for at this point his problems must have seemed insurmountable. New on the job, he had not only the "hang-over" from Sidney Day as described above, but was thrown immediately into the frantic turmoil of Operation Good Neighbor.
Of all the SANSCHA Sidney Days remembered by Con Cornish, the first one is most vividly recalled.
"As a greenhorn at the job," he says, "I drove a car in the parade and arrived at the park to find workers screaming for change; and also to find a small square foot of tabletop on which to work, right out in the fresh and spanking breeze."
"A flash vision of $10 and $20 bills fluttering in the wind, closely followed by various types of ticket stubs, prompted me to dash for a 'better' ole."
"Space under the old grandstand was available," he recalls, "but lacked table, chairs and light, but did not lack dust, a certain rotting odor, and spiders. A warped and rough piece of plywood on two trestles, one slightly lower than the other, made a nice slanting, bouncy table. Gradually the screaming turmoil gave way to busy routine and the day wound up with the cash being out of balance only 98 cents over. Great sighs of relief."
SMOOTHER OPERATION
This year, with more experience behind us (the hard kind of experience that teaches well), the financial operation of Sidney Day should be smoother. With budgets to limit unauthorized spending, with sheets to show still outstanding bills turned in with the cash of Sidney Day, the job should be a little easier.
Responsibility of spending money has always been with the various committees. The principle is a good and a democratic one, but at times has fallen down in a loosely knit organization such as ours; due simply to the problem of too few people and too little time.
With this thought in mind, a special finance committee was formed

THAT'S ME... THAT WAS! CENTRAL SAANICH

FORMER FEATURE WRITER TESTS DIET

By VIVIAN COWAN

And what a happy weekend this has been! I have reached the 30 pound mark. It's hard to believe that I now have only 10 more pounds to lose to achieve my goal. The best part of it is that it seems to have come off evenly all over—an average of four and a half inches off my vital statistics. (I'm really going to enjoy my swimming this year, or at least feel better about appearing in a bathing suit.)

V. Cowan

I am not sticking exclusively to my Liquid Magic diet these days, but of course am being very careful about what I eat—at least most of the times. Was invited out to dinner this week, and because I knew I was going, I had had nothing during the day except my "magic". The portion I would normally have used for dinner and the evening, I didn't take.

ENJOYED DINNER

As a result I indulged in not only a lovely dinner, including some dessert, but also preceded the meal with a most enjoyable drink. My host took some kidding from the other guests about being a tempter and promised not to tell on me if I didn't confess in my column.

Some young people (I mean the teenage group) are very much interested in my diet and they, too, would like to lose some weight. It is not pleasant to be overweight and not be able to wear the pretty clothes girls have these days. Boys, too, find it more difficult to take part in active sports if they are too heavy. I have been inquiring from Mr. and Mrs. Stacey as to the feasibility of youngsters on the Liquid Magic diet.

HAS BEEN DONE

It has been done, not as a complete, but as a partial replacement for food, and under a doctor's care. It gives them encouragement and a change of eating habits which is what is most needed. With the tempting array of high-calorie goodies always before them, it is difficult for anyone (let alone a teenager) to resist the temptation to overeat.

Just "not eating" is not the solution for a growing youngster. A good understanding of food values and how these extra pounds accumulate so quickly is by far the best plan.

That extra chocolate bar, those few more potato chips, that piece of cake instead of an apple when you get home from school, those are the things that cause the trouble. "Just this little bit won't count", you think, but you can't fool your inner counting machine, every calorie registers, and when you've taken in more than you can normally use up, those extra ones become those unwanted pounds.

SAANICHTON FARMER IS SUCCESSFUL

British Columbia has qualified another Canadian Jersey Cattle Club Superior Sire. This time it is Deerhaven G V F Royalist, classified excellent, bred by Ernest A. Cullen, Cobble Hill, B.C., and used in the herd of R. L. Mutrie, Saanichton.

Royalist qualified at 6 years and 7 months of age, and his 11 tested daughters have a mature equivalent average of 10,651 lbs. of milk, and 491 lbs. of fat. His 11 classified daughters average 84.32 per cent.

TEAM CHOSEN TO REPRESENT CLUB AT FAIR

Saanich 4-H Goat Club held a competition on the Saanichton fair grounds on April 19 to select the team which would represent the club in the 4-H demonstrations at the Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Fair. Four teams competed before a panel of three judges, Mrs. C. Levar and Mrs. F. Sealey, of Madrona Toastmistress Club, and Mrs. E. Smart, goat judge. All the scripts and materials in the demonstrations had been prepared by the members without help from their club leader.

Judges were interested to learn that three of the teams, Victoria, Sooke and Brentwood, had been trained entirely by three of the club's senior members, John Howe, Paul Howe and Rose Couling. Top team was the Victoria group composed of Rhodena Cronk, Wendy Baker and Cornelius VanEgmond. This group was trained by John Howe, the club's junior leader.

Saanichton group, composed of Bruce Gordon, Philip Howe and Elizabeth Howe came second. Contestants in other two groups were Heather Thomas, Mary Couling, Jean Money, David Shiner, Cheryl Moyer and Dieter Hartmannshenn. Three star performers of the show were Rhodena Cronk, Wendy Baker and Bruce Gordon.

In making their comments at the conclusion of the show, Mrs. Levar said that she was amazed at the clear and forceful manner in which the youngsters spoke. Mrs. Smart said "the children were almost as good as professional goatbreeders", and that she was truly delighted to see that even the very young members knew so much about the care, raising, and handling of goats.

Saanichton Dog Wins At Vancouver

Enquiries are pouring in from the mainland and as far away as California to Mrs. Carita Grieve, Saanichton, whose Pekingese, Kee-Ting, Tsur Hai took top honors over 277 dogs of all breeds at a recent show in Vancouver. Breeders are interested in stud services and puppies from the champion.

The dog gained a sterling silver spoon set for best of breed; a copper rose bowl for best toy; and a $100 tea and coffee service for best dog in the show.

Report From Early Century Removed From Ancient Wall

A summary of the period is difficult to establish from reading a few clippings from two newspapers published in 1908. A reader in North Saanich has been renovating a building. During the course of the work he discovered several sheets of newspaper which had been pasted on a wall prior to applying wallpaper. These pieces of paper no longer bear the full message they once sought to convey. They represent the San Francisco Examiner and a Vancouver paper. Most of the clippings are devoted to offering accommodation and property in the two large cities.

A section of a story deals with the then current play offered in Vancouver at the Van Ness theatre. The reviewer is a man of words. He commences with the pious hope that a resume of Dickens' Tale of Two Cities could scarcely be needed. He then continues to offer that resume.

The play was named "The Only Way", and was presented in a convincing manner by a Mr. Miller. At the Central a play depicting conditions in New York is offered with Herschell Maynall in the role of the American Sherlock Holmes, Homer Sherwood. Even the detective's name carries a suggestion of Conan Doyle. The manager, Ernest Howell and his staff have worked night and day to prepare the setting for the play.

NEWS REPORTS

In the limited news sections available it is learned that the Maritime Baptist Union meeting at St. John, N.B., favors Dominion union and that Herbert E. Willison has relinquished his appointment as secretary of the boys' department in Winnipeg Y.M.C.A. to assume the same duties at Marshfield, Iowa. Total of 113 whales had been taken off Alaska, according to a report from Juneau. West Toronto council approved annexation to Toronto and appointed a committee to investigate the various aspects of the proposal.

Lots in North Vancouver were offered at upwards of $150 each, while in Capilano five acres might be purchased for $175 per acre. Interest on all properties offered on time was at six per cent. Two fine high 50-foot lots near Victoria were to be sold for $1,000 each, while a six-room, modern house at Mount Pleasant was $2,100, or $400 down.

A carriage works on Westminster Ave., including a general blacksmithing shop was to be sold for $2,000, which price included tools to the value of $1,000 and promised a revenue of $1,000 per month. Rent was $50 per month. A baker was re-

Toastmistresses Present Gavel

By JOHN HOWE

Monthly meeting of the Saanich 4-H Goat Club was held at the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute hall at 8 p.m., April 17.

The subject of the roll call was, "What our club members should wear at the P.N.E. this year".

Our club decided to enter a float in May Day parade. Mrs. S. Lord and John Howe were left in charge.

John Shiner was made recreation convener for 1959 and a report is expected at next meeting.

Our speakers at this meeting were Heather Thomas, Rose Couling and Bruce Gordon. All are members of the club. The subject of their talk was, "How to prepare and show a goat in competition". Mrs. E. Smart, of Glanford Ave., made corrections on these speeches and answered a few questions put to her.

Our special guest for the evening was Mrs. Steeves of the Madrona Toastmistress' Club. We, the Saanich 4-H Goat Club would like to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to Mrs. Steeves and the Madrona Toastmistress' Club for presenting to us a beautiful gavel and rap for use at our meetings.

THE TEA KETTLE

quired to invest approximately the same capital as the blacksmith. A baker's shop in Kitsilano, on a lot 50 ft. by 120 ft. and equipped with a baker's oven costing $500, was offered for $2,200.

ARCHITECTS

A firm of architects offered plans for a house at a total cost of $15.

Comparison between costs of the period in Vancouver and San Francisco are impractical owing to the lack of complete pages. In the latter city properties are listed for rent but not for purchase. On Octavia, a large sunny room was offered for $12 monthly, the same advertiser listed a second, smaller room and presumably dismal, for $8 a month. A single room on Page was only $6.

Half a century ago the fortunate home-owner was able to read all the news before he recklessly pasted wallpaper over the current announcements. Today there is but a pittance of reports still to be found. It makes interesting reading, nonetheless.

VANCOUVER ISLAND Coach Lines

Two Types Of Farming Explained

North Saanich bulb farmer and an officer of both Vancouver Island Bulb Growers Association and British Columbia Bulb Growers' Federation, G. M. Owen, was featured on a television program emanating from CHEK in Victoria last week.

Mr. Owen spoke of the value of the bulb industry to the province and explained the characteristic of some species of tulip.

The proprietor of Beaumaris Bulb Farm, West Saanich Road, he explained that all tulips in popular acceptance today are hybridized varieties from a common parentage. He cited the Darwin, which was on display in the studio, explaining that it had been quite recently developed and was gaining in popularity all though it is not yet fully appreciated.

The growing of bulbs is a type of agriculture peculiar to British Columbia, he explained and flourishes in the Fraser Valley as well as on Vancouver Island. Weather conditions prohibit the growing of bulbs anywhere else in Canada, he noted.

The speaker distinguished between the bulb grower and the flower grower. The latter plants his bulbs and harvests the crop. He cuts his flowers and ships them to different parts of the province, where early production is impractical. On the other hand, he told his audience, the bulb farmer clips and throws away the bloom in order that the plant's nutrition should go to the development of the bulb. He then markets the bulb.

WHISKEY AND WATER

GOVERNMENT of British Columbia is exceedingly kind to a resident of this district who desires to slake his thirst with whiskey. For such a person, the government locates good brands of Scotch in their homeland—far away Scotland. The bottles are carefully packaged and transported tenderly by the government to British Columbia. Then they are trans-shipped to Sidney liquor store and sold to the bibulous at a price they can afford to pay.

But suppose that a resident of North Saanich, having purchased the bottle of Scotch kindly supplied him by the government of the province of British Columbia should decide to add a finger or two of water to it before downing the draught. Where would he secure the water if his well was dry? He could carry a bucket of water from his neighbor's—if the neighbor's well wasn't also dry. But in many months of the year, the North Saanich man might be forced to drink his whiskey neat.

Of course not every resident of Deep Cove and Towner Park and Patricia Bay and Ardmore drinks whiskey. Some drink only water. Their plight, obviously, is worse. Moreover they require water for other domestic uses in large quantities. No community life can be complete without an adequate supply of good, domestic water. There can be no argument about that.

Last week a committee of Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce met with Hon. Ray Williston, who administers the Water Act. They were accompanied by Saanich M.L.A. John Tisdalle who fully appreciates the plight of many residents of North Saanich who suffer every season because of an acute water shortage.

Mr. Williston was sympathetic and helpful. He promised the help of government engineers to devise a practical system of transporting water to North Saanich. But he balked at the delegation's plea that the provincial government should install the main pipe line from some proper source at public expense. This was requested because North Saanich, as an unorganized territory, has no municipal authority to handle its affairs. Even the argument that whiskey and beer are transported at public expense failed to move him.

Helped by the provincial government to engineer a plan to bring water to North Saanich is appreciated. But The Review and many of its readers would welcome an assurance that the government, official guardian of unorganized territories, will proceed to build the pipeline. We're satisfied that the government would act if it fully appreciated the plight of the residents—in other words that an emergency does in fact exist. The Chamber of Commerce, quite properly, is working aggressively on the project. It fully deserves the help and assistance of those who are suffering today. Is there an emergency? We leave the answer to this question to North Saanich residents.

Just because the Chamber's plea did not meet with immediate approval shouldn't discourage anyone. This newspaper heard a responsible official of the highways department, speaking with the full authority of the government, state emphatically on Galiano Island a few years ago: "This government will never subsidize a ferry across the Strait of Georgia". Everyone who lives on the islands today knows that such a subsidy has been paid from provincial coffers for many a long time. And quite properly, we believe.

The government will help the people of North Saanich in a concrete, financial way. We're confident of this. But no action will be taken until those affected make themselves heard. We must spur the government into action—and that cannot be done by sitting back and letting the Chamber of Commerce carry the torch alone.

FUTURE IS GRIM

THE department of highways is missing the boat. Perhaps it is missing two boats. When the parents of children in the community appealed for improvement to McTavish Road last year, the plea fell on deaf ears. The road is still among the abominations of North Saanich. This thoroughfare represents one of the most significant single factors contributing to potential tragedy in the entire community.

The road is the direct link between Sidney and the western side of North Saanich. It is the direct route to town for many residents of the district. It is also the connection to school for the pupils of McTavish Road. There is no doubt but that the road is a disgrace. Whether the department will come to realize this is another matter.

That same department, however, should bear in mind that McTavish Road is merely part of a pattern. It is the most convenient and the most nearly direct link between Sidney, the site of the projected mainland ferry and already the site of the international ferry, and Brentwood. The tourist seeking to arrive at Brentwood from Sidney is called upon to study a map and hopes that he will manage to negotiate the maze of roads which will lead him to his destination. The authorities offer little hope or assistance.

It would be a material benefit to the ferry traffic if McTavish Road were to blossom out as a thoroughfare fit to be used by tourists. This aspect of the situation should appeal more to the department than the hazards represented by the road today.

There is a deplorable lack of interest shown in roads and connections on Saanich Peninsula. It is many months since Saanich M.L.A. John Tisdalle proposed that West Saanich Road should be established as a highway with a direct southern connection with the Trans-Canada Highway. This would provide an added convenience and a pleasant alternative route to Patricia Bay Highway. It is increasingly evident that the minister of highways is unlikely to be influenced by the convenience to traffic or the hazard to children. The future of roads here is grim, indeed.

Letters To The Editor

COLOR CONSCIOUS

Editor, Review,

Sir:

The Leedham Hobbs articles are always interesting but there appears to be some evidence of color blindness in last week's article. To quote: "It is good to remember that

St. George's Cross on a red ground is the symbol of England . . . and is also the symbol of the Church of England and, of course, the Anglican Church of Canada". If the "George" on a red ground is the symbol of England then they must be flying a solid red flag. The flag of the Anglican Church in Canada is a red cross on a white ground (generally recognized as the Cross of St. George) with a green maple leaf in each quarter. One can be seen in St. Andrew's church, Sidney, on the south side of the chancel arch.

"LISTEN! LISTEN! LISTEN!"

Editor, Review.

Young folks, attention! We need your aid.

Vote that higher pensions soon will be paid.

We can't pay the prices, just see them soar.

We must cut our budget, eat less, not more.

We want to help each other, have a better day.

And attract attention all along our way.

We must add new numbers to our O.A.P.O.

That will hasten action that is far too slow.

We old folks together are putting up a fight.

We'll keep on working for what is just and right.

We will create interest in our worthy aim.

Try to "stir up" others so they'll feel the same.

"We need higher pensions", is our battle cry.

Why delay the issue, tell us the reason why?

We must have attention, have it right away.

Listen, listen, listen! Help us gain our day.

Editor, Review,

Sir:

Doubtless many Christians objected to the use of the words "legendary" and "invention" employed by last week's correspondent when referring to the story of Christ and the thief on the cross. But it could be that some of these good people who have objected may themselves at times annoy other groups of Christians by misinterpreting the meaning of Christ's words spoken to the thief on the cross. For instance, some often use these words of Christ spoken to the penitent thief: "Verily I say unto thee today shalt thou be with me in paradise." To support the theory that the dead go immediately to Paradise, Christ could hardly have meant that the thief would go with Him to Paradise that day, for according to John 20:17, Christ Himself did not go there that day. Three days later after he had arisen from the dead He said to one of His worshippers, "I am not yet ascended to my Father . . . to my God." And by comparing such texts as Revelation 2:7 and 2:12, we gather that Paradise is where God reigns on His throne.

Probably the reason why so many good people are confused and think that the beloved dead go immediately to Paradise is because of the misplaced comma that appears in the King James version of the Bible. But the best informed theologians and the most staunch believers in the total inspiration of the Bible are agreed that the punctuation marks have not been inspired, and therefore cannot always be depended upon to be properly placed. Commas, for instance, are sometimes misplaced, so if this text under discussion is to be kept in harmony with the many other Scriptural references concerning the sleep of the beloved dead, it would seem that the comma ought to have been placed after the word "today". "Verily I say unto thee today, shalt thou be with me in paradise." It seems to me that the word "today"

School Problem Facing Alberta

... About all school boards can do to protect the children is to be doubly sure that applications are carefully screened. Today this is the best single service a school board can render its community; beautiful schools and the best equipment are wasted, if inadequate teachers are placed in the classrooms.

Most people have come to give the Alberta Teachers' Association admiration, in some quarters begrudgingly, for the good fight it has waged to raise teachers' salaries and to improve standards of the profession, but they do not like the way their schools can be saddled with the misfits who are entitled to steady salary increases. Sooner or later, the ATA, the department of education and school boards must devise a system which will allow salaries to be based in part on merit. Such an agreement might contain a solution of the problem.

was here intended to make the promise to the dying thief more emphatic. After all that day that Christ died on the cross for such as the penitent thief was surely a day worthy of emphasis.

I once read a sad report about a letter of instruction that had been sent to a certain army officer. In the writing of this letter a comma had been accidentally misplaced with the result that the instructions were misunderstood, wrong moves were made, and a battle was lost. It would be tragic indeed if when great issues are at stake such as in the battle between truth and error we should fail to understand a momentous truth because of a misplaced comma.

"And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch."—Acts 11:26.

The history of words makes an interesting study. Often we find words taking on entirely different meanings than they had when originally coined. At one time a "dame" was a titled lady, but now to call a woman a dame is an insult.

Today the concept of a "Christian" is one who lives in a civilized country and has at least a tolerance for Christianity whether he bothers to ever darken the door of a church or not. It is thought of as a system of ideals or a way of living. This is a far cry from the original meaning of the word.

Originally the word was used to designate the followers of the Man, Christ Jesus. A verse previous to the above says "and a great number believed and turned unto the Lord." They followed the teachings of the Man called Christ and so were given His Name. Hence the name still implies a trust in Him for salvation and a following of His teachings. Anything less than this does not qualify you as a Christian, or prepare you for heaven where Christ dwells.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM NOTES

WEEKLY REPORT OF NORTH SAANICH STATION

STRAWBERRIES

Last fall a number of the strawberry plantings on the Experimental Farm were sprayed with herbicides in order to control winter weeds. These plots have remained remarkably clean and have required no hoeing or cultivating until the third week in April. Unsprayed plots, meanwhile, were hoed during the last week in March to control the vigorous growth of both grasses and broad leaved weeds. They required hoeing for the second time during the week of April 20. At this time the weed growth was much more advanced than in the sprayed plots, which were given their first hoeing in about half the time. No evidence of any plant injury from the treatment can be seen.

There is little doubt of the value of such a spray program to the strawberry grower. It permits him to plan his spring operation much more efficiently and reduces his overall labor requirements in an average season by a considerable margin. For example, he can lift his runners, work his land in preparation for planting and plant out his new acreage before it becomes necessary to cultivate his fruiting crop.

Early fall rains, usually result in early germination and quick growth of both common chickweed and annual blue grass, two of the worst weeds which infest strawberry plantings. The same conditions make it difficult or impossible to obtain a good fall clean-up by hoeing and cultivation, and heavy weed growth results, especially where the weather remains mild.

Weed sprays may be applied safely during the months of November, December and January at which time the strawberry plants are approaching or have reached the dormant stage. The principal chemical used is IPC, which will control annual grasses and also chickweed. Where other weeds are present, such as groundsel, it is recommended that DNB amine, sold as Dow Premerge or Sinox P.E. be added to the spray. Rates recommended are 5 to six pounds of active ingredient of IPC (there are 2.4 pounds of active ingredient per Imperial gallon in one common brand) and 3 pounds active of DNB amine (3.6 pounds of active ingredient per gallon). A volume of approximately 50 gallons per acre is suitable for this combination spray.

IPC is absorbed through the roots and therefore wet weather during spraying is of no consequence. DNB amine, however, is most effective as a contact spray and therefore when the combined IPC-DNB amine spray is applied the weeds should be dry. Rain a few hours afterwards will not spoil the effect of the application.

Chemicals are being used more and more for the control of weeds in an ever increasing number of farm crops as new and more effective materials are developed and tested. Herbicide spraying for the control of winter weeds in strawberries is a good example of this means available to growers who are going to be able to show the greatest profit on their farm operations.

NEW WEAPON IS LITTER BAG FOR TOURISTS

A new weapon in the war against untidiness on B.C. roads has been launched by the department of recreation and conservation in conjunction with the B.C. and Yukon Junior Chambers of Commerce and the department of highways.

Recreation Minister Earle C. Westwood has announced that distribution of a junior garbage gobbler litter bag will begin immediately through the parks and fish and game branches of his department, and through a province-wide undertaking by the Junior Chamber.

The new bag, a printed replica of the popular green and orange garbage gobblers erected at suitable points throughout the province last year, is designed to hang in the tourist's automobile. It is attractively printed and on the reverse side contains a map of the province with pertinent information on camping and campsites.

Bags will be available at campsites, motels, restaurants and service stations or through local Junior Chamber of Commerce offices.

Telephone Company Plans Improvements In Victoria

B.C. Telephone Company plans to install extensive outside cable additions throughout the Victoria exchange during the coming two years.

W. S. Pipes, vice-president and general manager, said in Vancouver last week that the company is at present completing a detailed study of existing telephone facilities in Victoria with the intention of providing for major cable additions over a wide area of the city.

"Consideration is now being given to an outside construction program which will call for expenditures of approximately $500,000," said Mr. Pipes. "The demand for higher grades of service from party line subscribers in Oak Bay and Esquimalt, coupled with new applications for telephones in the rapidly developing areas on the fringe of Greater Victoria, has shown a considerable upsurge over the past year."

"On the basis of this situation, the company intends to carry out a widespread program of improvements during the coming two years."

HEAVY DEMAND
"Some delays in receiving higher grades of service may be experienced in Oak Bay, Esquimalt and the northern Victoria area until the company can complete this two-year program. This is due to the fact that the heavy demand for two-party and individual lines is far exceeding previous estimates."

"Work has already commenced in Esquimalt, where telephone crews are engaged on a $100,000 cable project which is primarily designed to reduce the number of subscribers on lines throughout the municipality."

Mr. Pipes said that one of the main reasons for the stepped-up demand for higher grades of service on party lines in Oak Bay and Esquimalt was the August 1 extension of the two-mile base rate exchange boundary to include these two municipalities.

"In effect, this eliminated exchange mileage charges from Oak Bay and Esquimalt to pay the same rates for their service as those subscribers in the city centre who were originally within the two-mile boundary," he said.

"Over the past two years," he continued, "well over $3,500,000 has been spent on telephone improvements in Greater Victoria alone." "This expenditure included $1,500,000 on the new long distance switchboard which went into operation last week-end in the recently completed addition to the Blanshard Street telephone building; $1,500,000 on extra automatic switching equipment; and $580,000 on outside cable additions. These equipment and cable additions provided facilities for new applicants, reductions in the number of subscribers on party lines and allowances for future growth."

VICTORIA FIRM IS FINED ON LICENSE CHARGE

Costs assessed against the firm amounted to $29.70, and they were also ordered to take out the required license, at a cost of $25.

ACROSS MY DESK

REPORT FROM VICTORIA

by

JOHN D. T. TISDALLE, M.L.A.

Since my last report on the domestic water supply for the northern part of the Saanich Peninsula a number of favorable comments have come across my desk. Last week, representation of the Sidney Chamber of Commerce had a very beneficial interview with Honorable Ray Williston regarding the subject. The minister definitely assured us that the government was sympathetic to the problem and was aware of it. When asked what part the government would take in such a project, Honorable Williston replied: "The department would gladly give leadership and provide all the information possible to assure proper engineering assessment and feasibility reports."

I am of the firm opinion that the confirmation of the minister should provide the necessary impetus to get all the people behind the service and do a little energetic pushing. Ever since I've represented the area it has been my contention that the northern area of the Peninsula should have their own assured domestic water supply from Elk Lake, but time is the essence of such a service, as indicated in my last report planning and timing are extremely important. I believe the time is ripe, whereas, three years ago it only received honorable mention.

MOST IMPORTANT

Of all domestic services provided in a community, water is the most important and of relative importance come the health and welfare facilities. If Elk and Beaver Lakes are to supply the water then the city owned property surrounding them must be preserved at all cost.

With no sewers in the area the muted wholesale development of the city owned real estate, as a residential subdivision should not be tolerated. Even if it did not interfere with the water supply, every citizen and especially every parent in all the communities of the Peninsula should protect the disposition of these priceless assets. Here lying in the hub of the Peninsula are the only sizeable fresh water lakes with a natural park-like environment. These priceless jewels are within easy reach of the present population and could most certainly become valuable tourist attractions, beneficial to all municipalities. Irrespeclive of boundaries, cities such as Vancouver are finding themselves desperately short of outdoor recreational parks and are being pressed to see their responsibility in providing assistance to outside municipalities both to acquiring and creating such parks.

Richmond is now asking Vancouver to assist in servicing the beach areas of Iona Island. With the mobility of the population of today cities now find it increasingly difficult to provide sufficient interesting recreational facilities within the confines of their municipalities, nature not having placed sufficient of them within those boundaries.

Elk and Beaver Lakes are natural areas requiring very little immediate improvements. No single group or individuals should be responsible for the disposition of these lands without first an over-all expression of opinion based on an analysis of park requirements for the future. The present acreage is little enough for the future potential population, a greater catastrophe could not be perpetrated upon the future children of these areas than the destruction of this ready-made playground. These assets are expendable and irreplaceable once destroyed. Every parent from Sidney to Victoria should ask the question, is this asset worth saving and if so should request that property surrounding Elk and Beaver Lakes be immediately dedicated for park lands forever.

Red Cross Drive Still Pressing

Stuart L. Hewer, of Vancouver, has been appointed commissioner for the British Columbia Division Canadian Red Cross, succeeding the late Colonel C. A. Scott, who died on April 4. The decision was made at a meeting of the provincial executive in Vancouver on April 20.

Mr. Hewer has been assistant commissioner since 1942 and his service to Red Cross during the past 17 years has included work in administering the 1948 Fraser Valley Flood Fund, which he took over from Maj. Gen. F. W. Worthington, and the supervision of other Red Cross services such as disaster service and the enquiry bureau through which the Red Cross has been successful in re-uniting many families parted by the "iron curtain".

Another responsibility undertaken by Mr. Hewer in the past two years has been that of provincial campaign secretary.

This year's campaign figure for the province stands at $502,000 towards a quota of $690,000. Of this Vancouver's figure amounted to $269,426—80.4 per cent of a quota of $335,000 and more than $5,000 ahead of last year's figure at the same date.

Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan, provincial campaign chairman, has reported nine Red Cross branches already "over the top" of their quota. These are Galiano Island, Lytton, Kelowna, McBride, North Vancouver, Princeton, West Vancouver, Whitehorse and White Rock. Many more have still to make a final report.

OUT OF THE MIXING BOWL

Spring Is In The Air Again

By MURIEL WILSON

Days are different colors... there is the morning when everything looks as if you had dark brown glasses on. Nothing is right. First off your early morning reflection in the mirror jars you. The kitchen presents a stack of unwashed dishes left from last night's company; the coffee boils over and the bacon burns; a jar of jam slips from your hand strewn broken glass and jam over a freshly waxed floor; the mail holds only bills. A dark brown day I declare.

Then there is the pink day... you waken with a feeling that something nice is going to happen. The sun is shining, the birds are singing. Before you have finished breakfast there is the patter of little feet, the back door opens and small voices call Nana, Gramp. It is one of the girls and the children down for the day. A rosy pink day begins. This morning was neither brown nor pink... when I drew the bedroom drapes here was a new world dressed in soft misty green. During the night it had rained, a gentle warm rain urging every tightly folded leaf to unfurl its green. Overnight every bare bush and tree had become feathered in green lace. What a lovely, lovely world. I suppose it was this almost overwhelming beauty that made me think of the late Don Blanding—poet, artist, lover of beauty, lover of life and vagabond extraordinary. He had the gift of expressing the beauty of the world in verse and art. He had a great bump of humor which showed up between his deeply thoughtful poetry and his beautiful descriptions of all that was lovely in God's creation. We became acquainted with him through our trip to Hawaii some years ago. His zest for living was not only for the pink and green days but for the brown and gray days as well. As he put it, "Joy is an inside job", if we have an inner awareness of the gift of life any day can be a swell day.

VERY CHEAP As I have often said before, one thing leads to another. You have heard of the woman who bought a pair of violet gloves off a bargain counter... They were terribly cheap but before she went home she had bought a suit, hat, bag and shoes to go with the gloves. Well, last week we bought a beautiful driftwood lamp; it is polished cedar, a lovely glowing brown tone. It was a spur of the moment purchase and when we got it home we looked for a place to use it. The colors in the living room were too soft and delicate and besides we had enough lamps there. It was definitely not a bedroom lamp. Where in the world will we put it? Then we had a brain wave... let's make the back bedroom into a bed-sitting room, a sort of den. Of course we'd have to get rid of the double bed—what we really need is a bed-chest, a hide-a-bed. Without a bed that looks like a bed the room would look like a den and we could certainly use the lamp in a den.

Well that definitely solved the problem of what to do with the lamp. This morning we went downtown and bought a hide-a-bed, a lovely soft brown shade. We bought a mossy green carpet too because the present floor covering is blue. Looking at the curtains when we returned home we decided they just wouldn't do... we would certainly have to have new curtains. And of course the walls have to be repainted and my old desk refinished. "I just love our new lamp, dear," I said to Jim at dinner time. But he wasn't really listening—he seemed to be doing something with a pencil and paper. I have an idea he was trying to figure out what that lamp was going to cost him.

And do you know what? The whole thing was more fun; made me wonder if the average Joe and Jill doesn't get more out of life than the person with pots and pots of money. Like that American woman for instance with her 100 million dollars. What could she buy that would give her even the least little bit of a thrill. When you can have everything, what is there left? What is there to get excited about? Dreams are the yeast of life—if you have everything you have no dreams. Me? I'll take life with its occasional high spots and some unfulfilled dreams to look forward to. (What else can I do?)

Fines Follow Galiano Accident

Don Robson of Galiano appeared in police court at Ganges on April 24 before Stipendiary Magistrate H. C. Noakes, on a charge of failing to stop a car on the right side of the road, and was fined $10 and costs.

A juvenile appeared the same day and was fined $10 and costs on a charge of careless driving.

Both charges were the result of an accident which took place on Galiano Island.

Farewell Party

Miss Diane Carlin, who has spent the past year in Victoria, is spending several days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Carlin, Ganges Hill, prior to leaving for Vancouver, where she has accepted a position.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

Changes In Service Planned For Island Run Next Month

Summer schedule for the Gulf Islands service will be effective at an early date, announces Oswald H. New, of Gulf Islands Navigation Ltd. The actual schedule cards are now being prepared and will be in the mail shortly.

The Tuesday, Thursday, Friday night, Saturday and Sunday schedules will be similar to those now in effect but the Thursday night sailing from Steveston and the Friday morning run from Ganges will be deleted. A new 9:30 a.m. sailing from Steveston will become effective on Friday mornings, calling at who passed away in the capital city on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Symes have returned to Vancouver after visiting Mr. Symes' mother, Mrs. Annie Symes.

Mrs. M. Reynolds is here from Toronto, guest of Capt. and Mrs. Roy Beech.

Miss Sally Prentice is holidaying in Vancouver this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bingham left for Vancouver Sunday, where they will join the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Laycock, for a month's motor trip in the United States, returning via Saskatchewan and Alberta, where they will visit relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Sedgewick visited Vancouver again this week, for further tests on Mr. Sedgewick's eyes, which have improved since recent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter White are leaving for Victoria this Thursday, where they will join the former's parents, Maj. and Mrs. G. C. White, and the four will then proceed to Seattle via Anacortes, thence on to Portland for a few days en route to San Francisco for a month's holiday.

A burning bee was held at the children's playground park on Saturday, when a huge pile of stumps was fired. Flames shot more than 100 feet into the air, attracting the attention of an alert Saturna Island resident, who phoned over to ascertain the cause. A general clean-up was accomplished, before the opening of the fire season.

don't risk the dangers of an overloaded circuit

Check electrical outlets in your living-room, kitchen and bedrooms. Are they a tangle of cords and plugs? You may be overloading circuits with too many appliances and fixtures. Overloaded circuits rob you of valuable power—become dangerous as potential causes of fire.

Adequate wiring pays dividends three ways:

- Gives you more for your electricity dollar.
- Increases appliance efficiency.
- Eliminates fire hazards.

Why not check your circuits right now?

PANEL DISCUSSES WHAT IS EXPECTED OF SCHOOLS

—Salt Spring P.T.A.

Salt Spring Island P.T.A. April meeting featured a panel discussion which was open to the public. Held in Mahon hall, Ganges, a short business meeting preceded the well-attended discussion on "What we expect from our school system". It was decided to have swimming classes on the island again this year, with possibly local instruction.

In charge is Mrs. J. W. A. Green, assisted by Mrs. E. Booth, Mrs. J. Fredericks and Mrs. M. Sobor. Treasurer's balance was down to $57.80. Final plans were checked for the annual May Fair this Friday afternoon and evening in Mahon hall. Mrs. M. Fellowes presided at the meeting.

Program convener, Mrs. J. Reid, introduced panel moderator C. N. Peterson. Speakers included Mrs. E. Booth, Mrs. A. McManus, Gil Humphreys, Don Reynolds, Dr. H. Johnson, H. C. Noakes and D. Slingsby.

WHAT HE WANTS

Mr. Humphreys led the discussion, speaking on "sound scholarship", as he, personally, would want for his children. He stated "sound scholarship is a necessity if one is to obtain a high school education or training, and classroom discipline as the backbone of scholarship. The discipline referred to is not the stick or strap, although these can help, but the natural discipline wielded by a teacher who knows his subject thoroughly, who can present it in an interesting manner, and who is not opposed to using either physical punishment, or school authority, to remove unruly or lazy students from their classrooms."

Mr. Humphreys explained what he meant by education, saying too often parents based their ideas on the monetary rewards it would appear to afford—eventually choosing the line of work their children should follow—rather than fostering an insight into the human race and the mysteries of science.

STUDENT SPEAKS

Grade 12 student Don Reynolds spoke on the vocational aspect of preparing a career. He spoke on what he felt was necessary in education and stressed a minimum of grade 10. Don felt mathematics should be a major subject emphasized, going on to speak of the various vocational or trade schools available to students.

NO CRITICISM

Dr. Johnson was given the professional aspect of preparing for a career as his subject, and summed up his talk in three ways. First, he felt that academically school should not be criticized. Second, he felt there should be a great deal more stress and much more time spent on counselling. Third, he felt there should be someone available who could judge, and honestly criticize, a student's plans.

Mrs. A. McManus spoke on good standard of health, which she, as a parent, would expect. Recommending close co-operation between the department of education and the department of health, she felt well-ventilated classrooms and adequate light essential. Proper checks to promote good posture and controlled breathing were also necessary. Regular health checks and full advantage taken of the dental clinic were recommended.

NEED FOR ENTHUSIASM

Mrs. Booth, speaking on desirable attitudes and behavior, felt enthusiasm, awareness of the future, and discipline, were the most important attitudes. Enthusiasm, she felt, was the driving force giving the energy for all phases of a student's activities, be it science, spelling, or soccer. Interest comes before initiative, but with these a thirst for knowledge takes over. A keen student is happy and anxious to devote a large portion of spare time to extra-curricular studies. In her summary she felt a standard of dress should be set. Sloppy, not shabby, children should be barred from classrooms, she said, until they tidied up and looked respectable.

Building good character and good citizenship was ably covered by Mr. Noakes. He spoke on character, environment and associations, stressing that the individual job of building our character was our own responsibility. Determination is essential, and not to be easily misled or influenced erroneously, and true purpose is needed. Mr. Noakes outlined good citizenship, saying it was closely aligned with good character. In conclusion, he read a creed adopted from the Golden Rule by Rotary International: 1. Is it the truth? 2. Is it fair to all concerned? 3. Will it build good will and better friendships? 4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

This is the P.T.A.'s one big fund raising effort, and it is hoped that the new stage draperies will be up for the public to see. Members ask that everyone turn out and have an afternoon and evening of pleasure and at the same time support this hard working association.

Fishing Vessel Karmsund Successfully Salvaged

Salvage job that is considered by shipping men on the coast to be one of the most outstanding and successful marine efforts in years, has just been completed off South Salt Spring Island, by the team work of Captain George McRae of the tug Kansas, of Vancouver, and John Higgins, owner and operator of a derrick scow, when they raised the sunken hull of a 42-ft. beam trawler from the depth of 62 fathoms of water, just off Isabella Point, on April 19, after the vessel had lain in the water for over three months.

It was on January 26, during the height of the fishing season, when the "Karmsund", owned by Ole Vea of Vancouver, quietly tipped over when a heavy loaded drag-seine was being hoisted aboard. Fishery cruiser "Atlin Post" was near by, and took the men off and attempted to tow the sinking vessel nearer land, but it sank about a half-mile off shore.

For several weeks, fish packers and seine boats tried to raise the "Karmsund", but were unsuccessful. Two salvage boats made an attempt, but gave up after three weeks' struggle.

Then Captain McRae and Mr. Higgins made a "no cure, no pay" agreement with the owner of the Karmsund, and for three weeks they tried to locate the vessel, but it was extremely difficult owing to the fact they had no echo sounder. DRAG WIRES

They finally found the boat by

MRS. DOROTHY DORVAL IS BRIDE OF MANITOBA MAN

Of interest on Salt Spring is the marriage last Friday evening of Mrs. Dorothy Dorval of Ganges and Arthur Charles Heal of Strathclair, Manitoba. Canon Robert Willis officiated at the ceremony which was held in St. Mark's church, Victoria.

Dressed in a blue French wool suit, with pink hat and accessories and gardenia corsage, the bride was attended by her twin sister, Mrs. John Essery, who chose a beige suit and accessories with a pink carnation corsage. John Essery supported the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Essery, where a two-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was featured on the tea table. The bridal toast was proposed by R. Smith. Included in the guests of old family friends attending, was Mrs. Ida Sjostrom, formerly of Salt Spring Island.

PRESENTATION

Mrs. Dorval has lived on the island for 16 years and for the past seven years has been on the staff of the local B.C. Telephone exchange. Members of the staff honored her prior to her marriage at a gathering in the lounge at the telephone office. In congratulating her, and wishing her happiness, she was presented with a lovely corsage and gold wool blanket on behalf of all the members.

Following a short honeymoon, the couple have made their home on Salt Spring Island.

Development Of Island Park Promised Soon

Hon. Earle C. Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation, spent last Friday on Pender Island, exploring the 50-acre Pender Park tract. He was accompanied by his deputy, Dr. D. B. Turner, and the director of parks, H. C. McWilliam.

The party crossed over from Canoe Cove with Game Inspector Robert Sinclair, and drove across both Penders by car, leaving after in the day from South Pender wharf. They were greeted at Port Washington by L. J. Armstrong, president of the Pender Island Chamber of Commerce, and other chamber executives. Councilman Ray Brackett guided the party over the park area, and satisfaction was voiced in a number of fine view spots located in the park. Mr. Westwood said he would send out an engineer from the parks planning division as soon as possible to survey the whole area, and draw up plans for development.

Party had lunch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prior, who donated the land for a public park two years ago. After lunch, W. D. Gill and Laurie Auchterlonie drove the visitors to South Pender, where afternoon tea was served at the Gill home prior to the boarding of the launch, which had come around from Port Washington, for the return trip.

Mr. Westwood, who, in addition to his cabinet post, also represents the islands in the legislature, expressed pleasure in his Friday visit, and said he looked forward to returning to the Penders again.

Two-thirds of Canada's annual $200,000,000 fisheries take is exported.

TRAVELLER RETURNS

And Happy To Do It

By PADDY SCARFIELD

On a warm, calm spring day full of sunshine in March, I sailed from Tilbury, England, for Halifax, only to encounter one of the worst crossings I have ever experienced.

Storms and heavy seas commenced on the first day out, necessitating the use of the ropes (strung everywhere for passengers to hold on to) and "fiddles" (quick high wooden edges to the tables fixed to prevent plates slipping off) for the entire voyage.

Despite the difficult condition, the Cunard personnel maintained their usual courteous, efficient service, assuring passengers at all times that life was just the usual "bowl of cherries". Particularly this applied to the assistant chief steward (dining room), who on so many occasions reassured the nervous and cheered the woe-begone.

PASS QUEEN MARY

During the third day out, the mighty "Queen Mary" passed the "Ivonia" looking like a floating palace, and the feelings of the "Ivonia" first-voyage passengers can be imagined, when after admiring the "Queen Mary", the next moment the gallant "Ivonia" took a header into the waves and the "Queen Mary" was completely out of sight — fortunately to be seen again when the "Ivonia" came up for the next plunge.

These were the moments when I remembered so regrettably the old Irish song of my childhood, "She Is Far From the Land".

ANOTHER BAD ONE

During my eastbound trip from New York to Southampton in December, I experienced fairly similar weather conditions, sailing on the Dutch boat "Ryndam", whose sister ship sailing out of the British Isles to New York at the same time encountered one of the worst storms in living memory.

Force of the waves smashed the glass on the bridge, causing splinters of the glass to be embedded in the captain's face. Owing to the turbulent conditions the ship's doctor was unable to operate, and the boat returned to Eire, whence the captain was flown by helicopter to Amsterdam, and the ship resumed its trip to New York.

Travelling by bus to B.C., I left Halifax for Maine and New Hampshire where I was surprised to see more snow than in Nova Scotia or New Brunswick.

OLD FRIENDS

In Quebec, only the mounds of fast melting snow were left. In Plessisville, Que., the home of Rev. Fr. I. Le Clerc, I received the usual warm and gracious welcome from his parents, who sent kindly messages to all those who remembered them in Sidney and on the West Road.

After an enjoyable visit, I went to the home of Rev. Fr. D. Williamson's sister in Dorval, Que., recalling old friends and happy times in Sidney. He, too, wished to be kindly remembered to all his friends and acquaintances.

Then to Toronto and St. Catharines, Ont.; Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, and on to Salt Lake City, where once again the snow of Maine and New Hampshire was in full force. Then Portland, Seattle, Anacortes, and finally dear old Sidney, and home, truly a village of "kind hearts and gentle people", where the journey ended as it had begun, on a calm, warm, sunny spring day.

DANCE GROUP GAINS ACCLAIM IN VICTORIA

John Lawrence and Jim Wickens were in charge of a special trip into Victoria last week following participation by Saltspring school dance groups in the Victoria Musical Festival.

The local senior group, which tied for first place, was invited to attend a demonstration session in the evening. Although asked for past three years this is the first time the group has attended. Sixteen senior high school students, teachers and parents travelled by bus in a co-operative effort.

The students' council assisted by chartering a late ferry from Crofton-Vesuvius to return, and the Saltspring school board supplied the buses, in the worthwhile experience for the senior students.

The North Saanich high school, its staff and student body is one of which this district may be justly proud. It is highly deserving of our wholehearted support.

It has been the policy of the N.S. H.S. P.T.A. to sponsor yearly scholarship awards to N.S.H.S. students. A $100 scholarship award will be made to the grade 12 student, who will undertake university training and who attains the highest standing in the B.C. government university entrance examinations. A further $100 award will be divided between the three students credited with the most outstanding achievement in home economics, art, industrial art, and commercial.

This year a N.S.H.S. student will be eligible for the Dr. Harold Johns memorial bursary which is sponsored by the P.T.A. and is supported by all P.T.A.'s in School District 63. This award is made on a rotation basis to the three district high schools.

In order to raise funds for these awards the N.S.H.S. P.T.A. will conduct a rummage and Dutch auction sale in the North Saanich high school on Friday, May 1. Plants, home cooking, household appliances and utensils, and many useful articles have been donated by people in the district.

LOGGING MISHAP TAKES LIFE OF SALT SPRING MAN

Word has been received of the sudden death in a logging accident last Sunday of Andrew Dwyer, a resident of Salt Spring Island for the past 14 years. Mr. Dwyer left the island on March 21 of this year to work for the American Logging Company at Zeballos on the west coast. He was hooked behind a "cat" when the accident occurred.

Mr. Dwyer owned property on the north end of St. Mary Lake and when he first came lived in a tent near the favorite swimming spot there. He built himself a home on his property across the road and in recent years was putting in tourist cabins. Mr. Dwyer came here from the east and he had farmed, worked on the Dew Line, and done logging and trapping. It is believed he was 52 years of age, and has one sister in West Vancouver and another in the east.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

A social time followed with Mrs. J. Crossley and Mrs. C. Davies as hostesses. Next meeting will be held on May 26 at the home of Mrs. E. R. Hall, East Saanich Road.

Men and machines at either end of the scale offer a portrayal of the R.C.A.F.'s progress during the celebration of its 35th anniversary this year. At left, the R.C.A.F. pilot of 1924 leans against the wire-braced wings of his 95-m.p.h. Avro 504 to peer at the camera from a bulky and cumbersome flying suit lined with fur. At lower centre is a 504 seaplane, showing the open cockpit which made his bulky clothes

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

When British Columbia Was Born

CHAPTER XLIII

SOUTH CENTRAL B.C.

Few people realize the highest judge in the highest court in Canada held sway in the boundary area of south central B.C. around the turn of the century.

This is only one of the glories claimed by the "Boisterous Boundary" — the country between the Okanagan and the West Kootenays, just north of the U.S. border. It was B.C.'s big hope in 1860.

The first gold rush to the Fraser had bogged down by that time. The Cariboo hadn't yet exposed its riches, and the new colony was experiencing its first depression.

Governor James Douglas saw a chance of recovery in reports that Adam Beam had found gold at Rock Creek in the centre of that area. A stampede resulted and thus mining began in the southern interior. Most of the first miners dashed off to the Cariboo goldfields soon after, but enough stayed on to ensure the exploration and settlement of the Boundary.

ROCK CREEK

Governor Douglas went himself to the Rock Creek placer mines in October, 1860. He wrote, in a report to the secretary of state in London, "I pushed on . . . with three attendants in light marching order, towards Rock Creek. On the way I fell in with Mr. Cox, the revenue officer of the Southern frontier. . . .

" . . . After three days' travel we arrived at the town known as Rock Creek, situated at the junction of that stream and the Colville River. The town contains 15 houses and several more in progress . . . nearly 500 miners are congregated. . . .

Douglas went on to say the miners were generally earning $10 each per day. He met the assembled populace and explained the mining regulations and pre-emption laws.

Rock Creek thereafter became a busy camp and unlike many similar communities, did not become a ghost town when mining slumped. It grew to be a wheat raising centre. The area around Bridesville, to the west, toward Osoyoos, claims to be the best wheat-growing area in B.C.—with the possible grudging exception of the Peace River.

Rock Creek was the start of settlement of the Boundary Country which was to include Midway, Greenwood, Phoenix, Elton and Grand Forks.

LEGENDARY STORY

The story of Phoenix is especially colorful. It was a city on a hill, three-and-a-half miles east of the present town of Greenwood and was connected to Greenwood by a steep, winding road.

Due to its altitude, 4,500 feet above sea level, Phoenix called itself the highest incorporated city in Canada. Its police magistrate, W. R. Williams, who measured almost seven feet, once described himself as "The highest judge of the highest court, in the highest city in Canada."

Phoenix began when Henry White staked the Knob Hill Mine there in 1891.

There followed the staking of "Old Ironsides", "Stenwinder", "Brooklyn", "Idaho" and the "Phoenix" mines. The names reflected the fact that the first prospectors mostly came into the area by the easiest route—from the south—for these names commemorated United States places and history.

LEGENDARY STORY

Phoenix, as the mining camp was named after the name Greenwood Camp was tried and discarded, was said to have been named for Phoenix, Arizona. A more romantic version is that the camp was named for the mythical Phoenix of Egypt—a legendary bird which was supposed to have destroyed itself and its nest by fire when it grew old.

From the ashes, it would arise with new youthfulness and vitality.

In fact, Phoenix still lives in spirit, with the many who lived there, and plans for its partial resurrection were announced last year by Granby Consolidated.

The camp has been a ghost town in recent times however, with but one house standing and one resident. But in its heyday, Phoenix shipped more ore than all other B.C. mining camps combined.

START OF HOCKEY

Phoenix claimed to have started professional hockey and to have originated skiing in this province, and in days gone by, wagers of $1,000 on the outcome of hockey games were said to be common.

Phoenix bragged too, of being the only camp in B.C., where Chinese were never admitted, and failed to acknowledge shame. The city also boasted of 16 secret lodges and societies. When the city gave up its charter, it had no debts, and turned over $4,000 to the province.

Phoenix was incorporated in 1900. Nine years later there was a population of 5,000, there were five churches, a school, hospital, hotels and stores.

how much are you really paying for "FREE" hot water?

Let's face it—hot water is never free. If you're heating water with old-fashioned coils in your furnace or stove, your fuel bills are higher than they should be. What's more, you're losing costly heat through that inefficient uninsulated water tank! With a modern, automatic storage heater, you pay only for the hot water you use; once it's heated the insulated tank keeps it hot. The cost of providing automatic hot water for an average family is a few cents a day per person. And what a convenience to have all the hot water you want—simply by turning a tap!

A plentiful supply of hot water from an automatic electric storage water heater is the greatest blessing in the home.

Loreen Florence Hanson Is Bride Of Gerhard Hertwig

Marriage ceremony took place Sunday evening, April 26, at Rest Haven Seventh-day Adventist church, where, mid apple blossoms, jonquils and daffodils, set apart by a little white lattice fence, P. Gerhard Hertwig received his bride, Loreen Florence, from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hanson of Wain Road. Pastor G. Hochstetter officiated.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and lace, enhanced by a bouquet of red carnations and white freesias. Virginia Kettner was maid of honor, and Eileen Wagner was bridesmaid. Both wore blue taffeta gowns, and carried yellow carnations and freesias. The groom was attended by Karl Tollefsen and Einer Vingvist.

QUINCE BLOSSOMS
Little Valerie Jean Johnson, niece of the bride was flower girl and strewed the bride's path with quince blossoms. Her brother, Wayne, was Bible boy. Nuptial organ music was provided by Mrs. N. Tkachuk, and Mrs. G. Hochstetter rendered as vocal numbers "God Gave Me You" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Wedding reception was held at the K.P. hall, where many guests assembled to celebrate this happy occasion with the newly-married couple.

PLAN VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Hertwig are spending their honeymoon in the State of Washington. Later this year they plan to visit Mr. Hertwig's parents, who live near Bremen in West Germany.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ganz and Pastor F. C. Fell of Burnaby; Harold Petersen of Armstrong; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Janke of Lodi, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Hans Honiki of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Verne Ganz of Parksville; Eunice Rowe and Amy Decks of White Rock; and Lloyd Hanson of College Place, Washington.

Electric Car Is Seen As New Challenge To Gas Supremacy

Is the electric car making a comeback? A report in the current issue of Progress, house magazine of the B.C. Power Commission, outlines plans for the production of an entirely new electrically propelled vehicle with a body somewhat similar in appearance to the German Karmann-Ghia.

The new project, under construction by an American aircraft company, will travel at a maximum speed of almost 60 m.p.h. for a range of seven hours. Batteries are selenium cells and are replaceable. The new battery occupies less space than did the old style accumulator and may be charged at a high rate.

The power commission is interested in the project as a source of revenue. The electric car would be charged overnight and would draw on the supply at the lowest point of consumption. If one-tenth of the vehicles in the province were replaced by electric cars the power suppliers would distribute another $2,000,000 of electricity to be largely absorbed at night, during the off-peak period.

ONCE PROMINENT

Electric cars, says the article, were among the most prominent of all vehicles at the turn of the century in North America. There were 1,600 electric cars, 1,600 steamers and 1,000 gasoline cars at the turn of the century on the North American continent. A few firms on this continent have stayed with the electric vehicle, mostly building commercial vehicles. In Europe there have been successful production models during the past decades, but few firms produced passenger vehicles.

The optimism of the electric supply authorities may yet be reflected in the support of the motoring public, seeking quiet, ultra-dependable transportation. The oil companies, says the report, have already shown faith in the electric car. Two companies have already asked for dealerships for batteries and accessories for this pioneer vehicle listed.

BIG AUDIENCE FOR REVIVAL BANDWAGON

Most enjoyable variety concert, a revival of the Bandwagon of several years ago, was enjoyed by a three-quarter capacity audience at SANSCHA hall on Saturday, April 18.

Sponsored by the North Saanich High School Band Aid, and organized by S. N. Magee, the program opened with the playing of the North Saanich High School Band with a selection of marches, calypso, Dixieland music, and a number of classical pieces. The band was accompanied in three selections by the N.S.H.S. junior and Sidney elementary bands.

Also appearing on the program was Mrs. Vera Theaker, soprano, with a selection from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel"; the "Dance Twins", Maeva and Tiare Doherty, ballet and modern dancing; Don Leckie and partner, tap dance team from Victoria; a monologue by Shirley Kerr, talented student of the high school; the N.S. H.S. choir under the direction of Mrs. E. Ford; and a return visit of Gary Howard, one of the original Sidney band students and a performer in the first Bandwagon of 1949.

Norman Wright, acting as emcee, lent a friendly atmosphere through his informality in presenting those taking part.

TOMBOLA WINNERS

Prizes of the tombola were named, the clock radio, first prize, awarded to Mr. MacDonald, Transit Road, Victoria; electric frying pan, second prize, to N. Buckboro of Admiral Road; and the fruit cake to Mrs. F. C. Adams of West Saanich Road. The door prize, a beautiful blanket, was won by Robert James of Sidney.

Corsages were presented to Mrs. Eagles, president of the Band Aid; Mrs. Ford, director of the choir; and Mrs. S. Magee. A gift was presented to Mrs. Theaker.

Total of $98 was realized after expenses of $92.04 were paid.

Tribute was paid to Stan Magee for the time and effort given both in organizing the concert and in the devotion of the many hours of practice with the bands.

Council Takes Second Look At Planning

Central Saanich council Tuesday night again considered membership in the Capital Region Planning Board, and had some second thoughts regarding withdrawal from the organization.

"We're within the area covered by the board, whether we like it or not," said Municipal Clerk D. S. Wood. "If we're in it, we are able to object to what they want to do, but if we're not, we just have to do what they say."

"The reeve and I attended a meeting recently," Mr. Wood continued, "and when I put forward our objections, (Saanich Reeve) Chatterton was amazed that they had never thought along those lines. He agreed that some modification of their plans was necessary."

"That's true," agreed Councillor R. G. Lee. "If we belong, we have a chance to put up our objections." Council decided to await a reply to its application to the government for withdrawal from the board before taking any action on paying the annual dues to the board, which amount this year to $406.

Other matters discussed were the purchase of sports trophies and assistance with swimming lessons. These matters along with the school picnic will be discussed at the next meeting on Wednesday, May 27 at 8 p.m.

BEACON AVENUE HOUSE BURNS UNDER CONTROL

Fire in Sidney on Monday evening which completely destroyed an elderly building was the scene of excitement and festivity as firemen from two departments battled the flames. The fire had been set in order to destroy the building, and crews from Sidney and North Saanich Volunteer Fire Department were augmented by their colleagues from Central Saanich as they displayed the effect of various fire-fighting devices.

The fire blazed vigorously shortly after being lighted, only to be brought completely under control by the attendant firemen. The crews showed the effects of fog nozzle and water stream on the fire and a number of firemen entered the building with smoke masks and oxygen tanks while the flames roared over their heads.

Located at Beacon and Fifth, the house was the property of Slegg Bros. Ltd., who wanted it destroyed. It was formerly the property of James Mason.

DRY CLEANING

If dry cleaning must be done at home, use only non-inflammable fluid. Do the cleaning outside the house, where all toxic and other vapors will be dissipated quickly.

Miss B. McDowell, low, Mrs. B. K. Beaumont, G. Webster and Mr. Ruhl were the lucky names drawn by Timmy Lott as winners of canasta and miscellaneous parties.

Cub and Scout Mothers' Group wishes to thank all the hostesses and those who sent in donations which helped to make this endeavor a success.

Further aspect of the training has been the regular rifle shooting on Saturday mornings, with instruction in the handling of firearms given by Dr. J. D. Butler as part of the course.

Cadets are not part of the military establishment and are not liable to any kind of military service. The squadrons across Canada, numbering some 22,000 boys in their ranks have been set up to offer specialized training and recreation facilities with emphasis on discipline.

TWO SPHERES

The R.C.A.F. undertakes to supervise training, while the administration of the squadrons comes within the province of the Air Cadet League, a civilian organization.

Commanding officer is FL. J. R. Hannan, formerly adjutant at the old R.C.A.F. marine base at Patricia Bay. Officers are FO. K. C. Cantwell, FO. Frank Richards and Alec Effa. Instructors include Gerald Rousseau, Charles Hunt, Dr. Butler, W. DeMacedo, Gordon Campbell and others who have volunteered their services.

The civilian committee is headed by Hugh Loney and is formed by the Sidney Kinsmen Club. The club has been responsible for the financing of the unit and is the direct liaison with parents of participating boys.
